

Talk Farm To Me is an independent podcast -- hosted and produced by Farm Girl -- about farms and farmers, what they do, how they do it.

In a series of eight episodes each season, Talk Farm to Me shares the stories of farmers with non-farmers in order to give them an authentic perspective on the profession and a deeper understanding of the important work that farmers do.

It is my hope that listeners will not only find the lives of farmers and the stories of their farms interesting, but that they will recognize a little bit of themselves in the farmers that they meet.

Interview Topics

Most importantly I want to hear from you about you and your experiences as a farmer. It's your unique story that is most interesting and compelling. Just fill me in on the nitty gritty!

About You, The Farmer

- Who you are
- How you got started
- What you like/dislike

About the Farm

- What you produce and why
- How you do it
- Who helps

About the Challenges You Face

- Biggest challenges
- How you address them

About Your Plans & Hopes for the Future

- What's next
- Future/legacy

Words of Wisdom to New Farmers

- Advice

Interview Tips

- Relax. We will just chat. You will get used to the microphone at some point. ☺
- Answer questions in full sentences. Feel free to start over or to clarify at any time.
- Most interviews will take place in person and last about an hour. We will need a quiet spot with few distractions and minimal noise.
- Some interviews will take place over the phone for which you will need to download an App on which I can record our conversation. I will give you separate instructions should we need to exercise that option.
- Following the main interview, I would like to get some audio of you around your farm, perhaps on a short tour. I would also like to record some audio around your farm, without talking. I can do this on my own or with you.